SESSIONAL CO-INSTRUCTOR (0.25 FCE)
CHL 3052H: Practical Bioethics, Fall/Winter 2022-23 – CUPE 3902 Unit 3

Course CHL3052H: Practical Bioethics (capstone)

This is required course in the Master of Health Sciences (MHSc) in Bioethics program. The MHSc in Bioethics is a two-year professional degree program for health professionals working in health settings. This half-year course is a capstone course held continuously over the Fall and Winter terms in the second year of the MHSc program. The course engages students in reflecting on what they have learned throughout the MHSc program and in exploring ways to apply bioethics knowledge in their professional work settings. In-class sessions focus on approaches to leading ethics change, influencing policies, evaluating ethics quality, and fostering ethics conversations in practice. Students develop and complete an individual capstone project addressing health ethics issues with the supervision of a faculty member or other supervisor and the support of peers. The course culminates in a full-day symposium during which students present their capstone projects.

Estimated course enrolment: 18
Estimated TA support: 0
Schedule: Fridays, Sept 16, Oct 14, Nov 18, Jan 13, 1-5pm and Mar 31, 8am-5pm
